

A Message from Poss

July / August 2017

A big hello to all my friends!

I hope you are all well and happy. What have you been doing lately? I haven't heard from many of you for a while and I'm very interested in what you are up to!

You must be back at school now because I am. I miss Miss Roo when we have holidays and I miss my friends also. It's always good to be back at school. I like my holidays too though!

The Brisbane Show (that's the EKKA for those of you who don't live in Brisbane) is coming up soon. Are you going? It's so much fun but it can be very crowded and very hot. My mum always says 'don't forget your hat and sunscreen'! It's a good thing to remember! My favourite part is seeing all the animals in the parade, in the big ring! Also I like the ferris wheel the best because you can see all over the grounds.

Epilepsy Queensland is having a September Sizzle in September. It's all about making sure everyone knows about seizure first aid. It's so important that we know how to take care of our friends should they have a seizure. We can then help them and keep them safe. Maybe you and your family can hold a September Sizzle! Or maybe your school, it can be a BBQ or a morning tea, or whatever you like. It's an opportunity to make sure everyone knows about seizure first aid! You can read all about it further in my newsletter.

‘Spotlight On’

Little Poss ‘Member’

Hello my name is Indi!

I love to hang out with my friends,
I love to do things with my family.
I love to garden with my family and to inspire others to grow their own food.

We have lots of veggie patches,
9 chickens and our dog, Oscar.

I love creating my own plant business and potting up succulents, I do this on the weekends, on the school holidays and sometimes after school.

I sell my plants in a stall out the front of my house.

I started high school this year, I am 13. I have lots of hobbies and interests. I have a big family of 7.

Mum, Dad, 2 brothers, me and my 2 sisters.

Love Indi x

Ask Dr Dudley

Dear Dr. Dudley,

Sometimes my sister gets sad. I don't know why and I don't know how to make her happy. Is it her epilepsy making her feel sad?

Jane

Dear Jane,

You are very kind to be concerned about your sister. Sometimes when people with epilepsy are not well or they are having seizures, they can worry about that. Sometimes their seizures can make them feel unhappy too just because they happen! They can also feel anxious about having more seizures. It takes a while to getting used to having epilepsy. It is normal to sometimes feel sad or confused. When you have epilepsy

It might be a good idea to ask your sister if she is feeling sad or worrying about something, she might like to talk to you about it. Or she might like to talk to her Mum or her teacher about it too. It always feels better to share concerns with others. If she is feeling well and sad, maybe she would like to visit her doctor to have her epilepsy check up.

Everyone needs to have time to have some fun too. Is there something you can do together that would make her feel good, like listening to music or playing a game that you both like? Having some regular exercise or an activity that she can share with you would be great. Going for a walk or a run can be very helpful for our moods.

It's wonderful that you are being such a good friend for your sister. Keep up the great work.

Dr Dudley

Some good old 'life advice' from Little Poss!

Be careful when climbing trees, don't go too far up without someone to watch you!

Eat cake! Write letters to Little Poss - I love receiving them!

Do what you enjoy doing. Don't let your epilepsy stop you from doing what you love to do!

Don't sweat the small stuff - if something isn't working for you, move on to something else, like a good book!

If friends at school treat you differently because of your epilepsy, sit them down and explain that you're no different to anyone else. Give them a lesson on epilepsy

Remember to take you medication! Rest!

Get good sleep!

Have fun!

Play footy!

Dance!

Laugh lots!

Sing songs out loud!

Make friends!

Happy Birthday!

How about a Hot Chocolate for your birthday treat? Here's a great recipe!

Ask a grown up for help though!

1/2 cup Cocoa
3 tabs sugar
4 cups of soy, cows, or almond milk
1/4 water
Vanilla or cinnamon

Combine the cocoa powder and sugar. In a saucepan whisk together until blended, add the water and whisk until combined. Heat over medium heat stirring constantly, bringing to the boil. Stop stirring, reduce the heat to medium low and let the mixture boil for 2 minutes. You could add the vanilla or cinnamon at this stage if you like. Slowly add in the milk, stirring to blend. Heat the cocoa until its very hot but do not allow it to boil.

Serve it up, pour into mug and top with marshmallows of course!
Happy winter treat too!

Fill in the missing words to Little Poss' story

Epilepsy is a condition that affects as well as human beings. Dogs, and are just a few of the know to have epilepsy.

Hello, I'm little Poss and I live in a place called, in a tall, talltree! I am a possum. My teacher's name is Miss

I have been learning about my body. I have parts on the inside of my body like my, and I have parts on the outside of my body, like my nose and my can you think of any other part that are on the Wally Wombat told us that our brain is like a computer, it controls everything that our body does. Imagine that - our very own computer safely inside our head.

The brain is just one of the parts on the inside of the Some of the others are ourwhich help us breathe, ourheart which pumps ourblood and ourstomach which breaks down our food.

This colouring-in is what a brain looks like on the inside.

Can you imagine all the different things that happen because of the brain? Like 'remembering', 'seeing things', 'moving our arms and legs, tasting our food and also for breathing.

I bet you can colour in this brain and make all those different parts a different colour!
